

August 16, 2013

To Whom It May Concern:

It is with much pride that I offer a positive report on the inclusion of Donaldson Producciones' Solo Yo Culpable in the 2013 Fresh Fruit Festival, which ran July 8-21 in New York City. The production was a success on multiple levels and we'd glad to welcome back Donaldson Producciones in the near future, as we are committed to supporting their artistic growth and development.

Every year our festival presents an elite group of artists from around the world who come together to present high-quality work that highlights aspects of the lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender community's experience. This year was by far our most competitive year to date, with triple the number of applicants. It was a testament to the quality of Solo Yo Culpable that it was not only selected to be presented, but it was the sole non-English production, which was a major achievement and added so much to our festivities this year.

Having the wonderful team from Donaldson Producciones on board was a tremendous asset to our festival, and we are extremely thankful to have had such wonderful artists expose our audiences to a different "world" of theater. We can't wait for their triumphant return to NYC and hope that the powers that be can help make that possible again in the near future.

Sincerely,

Dane Joseph
Associate Artistic Director